With the current slowdown in hiring within the high-tech field, you must be flooded with resumes from out-placed software engineers such as me. Please take a moment to consider my qualifications. I believe in particular is highly marketable in this tight market:
I worked on the team that pioneered the technology that put the Palm Pilot on the map.
In today's increasingly mobile society, this technology has places to go, and I have ideas that could take us to the next step in office independence.
Please call me with prospective job opportunities. I am interested in a project management position in the Rs. 9K range.
Thank you!
Venkatesh.

Q4. Use a new workbook & construct a worksheet with the data given & save it as LYONS.

1. Markup = Cost price/Litre x 35%
2. Selling price = Cost price/Litre + Mark up
3. Total income = Litres sold x Selling Price
4. Profit = Total income - (Cost price/Litre x Litres sold)

- The MARKUP% (35%) must be inserted in a separate cell under the heading. USE IT as an absolute cell reference in the formula to calculate the mark up per item.
- Calculate the mark up for each item.
- Calculate the selling price for each item.
- Calculate the Total Income for each item.
- Calculate the profit for each item.
- Format the column LITRES SOLD to display the number of litres as integers. The rest of the worksheet must be formatted to display two decimals. g)
- Use statistical functions to calculate the AVERAGE, HIGHEST (MAX.) and LOWEST (MIN) for Selling Price column up to Profit Column.
- Show all formulas you have used in a new sheet. Adjust the column width so that the formulae are displayed in full and the sheets fits into one side of A4 landscape format and save it as formulas.
- Under the worksheet Create a pie chart titled PRODUCT COST PER UNIT for Product & Cost price per Litre columns. Data labels indicating percentages should be displayed.
- Put borders neatly on the on the work sheet & save it as LYONS2.
